

All golfers must share their distance devices with anyone that asks them for a distance.

You must inform your opponents that you have a range finder or gps before play begins.

All golfers must share their distance devices with anyone that asks them for a distance.

You must inform your opponents that you have a range finder or gps before play begins.